On May 15, 2013, the Board issued an Order summarily suspending Respondent's license to practice medicine and surgery in Wisconsin. The parties in this matter agree to the terms and conditions of the attached Stipulation as the final disposition of this matter, subject to the approval of the Medical Examining Board (Board). The Board has reviewed this Stipulation and considers it acceptable.

Accordingly, the Board in this matter adopts the attached Stipulation and makes the following Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and Order.

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. Respondent Donald F. Stonefeld, M.D., (dob March 3, 1936), is licensed in the State of Wisconsin to practice medicine and surgery, having license number 35255-20, first issued on March 25, 1994, with registration current through October 31, 2013. On November 6, 2013, Respondent paid renewal fees, however the license cannot be renewed until he resolves a tax delinquency. Respondent retains the right to renew his license through October 31, 2018. As of May 15, 2013, the Board summarily suspended Respondent's license and the current status is therefore suspended and expired. Respondent's most recent address on file with the Wisconsin

Department of Safety and Professional Services (Department) is 3141 Washburn Lake Road, Rhineland, Wisconsin 54501.

2. Respondent practices psychiatry, but he is not certified by any board recognized by the American Board of Medical Specialties.

PRIOR DISCIPLINE 02 MED 315

3. On March 15, 2006, in case number 02 MED 315, the Wisconsin Medical Examining Board issued an Order in which it concluded that Respondent had violated Wis. Admin. Code § Med 10.02(2)(h). The Board reprimanded Respondent and required him to pay costs. The discipline was ordered pursuant to a stipulated agreement.

4. Respondent's prior discipline was based on his interactions with a fifty-year-old female patient, Patient A. Respondent diagnosed Patient A with bipolar disorder, obsessive/compulsive behavior, post traumatic stress disorder and a personality disorder, NOS. Ultimately Respondent told the patient he wanted to engage in a personal relationship with her but could not if she was his patient. As a result, Patient A agreed to terminate the therapeutic relationship.

5. By stipulation, Respondent agreed that his conduct violated appropriate relationship boundaries between a psychiatrist and his patient.

6. In December 2005, by agreement with the then-Division of Enforcement and at his own expense, Respondent was evaluated by a Minneapolis psychologist with extensive experience evaluating health care providers in the area of professional boundaries. The Minnesota expert opined, to a reasonable degree of professional certainty:

- a. Respondent did not have any psychological disorder;
- b. Respondent, as a result of having taken continuing education in the area of professional boundaries, obtained a good understanding of the subject and did not require further education in the area;
- c. Respondent could safely practice medicine and surgery without limitation.

EVENTS OF 2012

7. At the time of the events set out below, Respondent was employed as a psychiatrist at Multi Cultural Counseling Services, d/b/a Renew Counseling Services, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

8. On or about May 23, 2012, Respondent began providing psychiatric medication management to Patient B, a 36-year-old female patient. Patient B was diagnosed with obsessive-compulsive disorder and attention deficit disorder. Respondent prescribed multiple medications for Patient B over the next several months.

9. Following the commencement of the physician-patient relationship, Respondent sent text messages to Patient B, in which he: requested a photograph of her; told her that she was

“much prettier now”; offered to lend Patient B a vehicle for camping; and told Patient B that he wanted a “partner.”

10. On September 18, 2012, Respondent engaged in the following text exchange with Patient B (punctuation and spelling as found):

R: please use other phone. This does not open the big messages. Short messages are okay. I like this phone better. How are you?

P: OK, my kids got doc appointments today... Thank God for the insurance cab to get there. it's all the way on 85th N Capital.

R: OK. I will have your $ tomorrow as promised.

P: thanks... So much.

R: could not stand the thought of you and children with no lights.

P: that's sweet considering two years ago their dad stole $1000 from me and he knew it was my bill money and my electric was off for a week then till my family pitched into help me. Thank God it was tax time and everyone had $ to spare[...]

R: OK. So both fathers treat you like shit? Son's fathers stole $1000 from you?

P: my ex-husband stole from me my five-year-old son's dad pays his child support. He's a good dad but if he helps me he expects sex and I am not a prostitute.

R: sex should be with no price. Not in payment.

P: amen DOC...LOL.

R: if you have sex as a debt there can't be any emotions or love. Just physical. I prefer to have emotion involved. What do you think?

P: I try not to think about sex period... My kids bring me more joy than sex.

R: for me the joy is different. But if you had to pay for help with sex I understand it lost the pleasure. Just a duty to perform. Very sad.

P: U hit it on the head that's exactly how I feel like a piece of meat being used. It makes me not to trust a man's word because I've been told a million times it ain't about sex but as soon as I am alone that's what they take.

R: I have never "taken" anything. Never will.

P: that's why I find it hard to let anyone to do things for me. I always depended on myself in this world because if someone gives you a hand they want an arm back...

R: and remember you don't "owe" me anything. If you feel like giving at sometime all is okay. Guess I will hang around and see if you can get beyond that.

P: most men run at the thought of an investment with no return.

R: I am not investing. And if there is a return, it is a gift and that is much better than a debt. Also, I love knowing I made a difference. Guess it is a pride thing, and I am proud I have made a difference. I am also pretty sure if you decided to give it would be 1000%. I have been used too and I did not like it. I am much more cautious now.

11. In a written statement, Patient B stated that between July and September, 2012:

I saw Dr. Stonefeld for medication management while also receiving counseling at Renew. At first he was distant. However, when I began grooming myself and feeling more positive about myself I immediately noticed a change in his behavior towards me, like body language and kind and flattering words. Sessions became longer period he told me I was beautiful. One time he came up from behind me and moved my shirt and bra so he could see my tattoo. He wanted me to show him all of the tattoos I had but I refused. He gave me a private cell phone number and told me I should call him "day or night." As I left he asked me if he could hug me, and did it tightly. He began to call me at various times of day or night, but the conversations were never therapy related. He asked many questions about my life, and told me not to tell anybody about these calls. He also sent dozens and dozens of text messages. I have copies of many of them. One time he arranged a meeting with me and gave me $920 for personal expenses. I gave the money to my father for him to hold as evidence of the relationship he was trying to have with me. Later that day, he called and wanted to get together for "adult time." I refused. He has made me very uncomfortable with these unwanted advances, calls, and numerous texts, so I ended the consult with Renew and have changed clinics.

12. Respondent neither admits nor denies the allegations but concedes that the facts alleged are sufficient to justify the Conclusions of Law and Order below. In resolution of this matter, Respondent consents to the entry of the following Conclusions of Law and Order.
